

What is it?

The Big Ideas Summit is... the world's first digitally-led think-tank for procurement and supply chain professionals. The most influential commercial thought-leaders will be sharing their Big Ideas on risk, technology, talent and cost.... and taking your questions. No matter where you are in the world, you can get involved via Procurious as a Digital Delegate and help shape the day's discussions, access exclusive content and even pitch your Big Idea to the global procurement community.

How can I participate?

Start by registering for Procurious (it's free!) and joining the Big Ideas Group on site. Send us your questions for our Big Ideas speakers, check out our daily news and interviews and share your views with other big thinkers.

Home, sweet home

Procurious is the hub for all Big Ideas event discussions, surveys, photos, news, interviews and video footage. www.procurious.com

On the day

Keep your eyes peeled... Procurious will be the place to get all the news, highlights, forecasts and updates from London, including the winners of our iPad Mini competition. We'll also be live tweeting from the event so feel free to chirp in with a question, prediction or Big Idea of your own. With a global audience of 5,000+ procurement pros from more than 100 countries, timezones can make life tough, so rather than live-streaming (and keeping you up all night), we'll be sharing footage throughout the month of May on Procurious.

Social media

Follow the action on Procurious or Tweet us your Big Ideas or questions @procurious using #BigIdeas2015. Follow us on Facebook.

Keep the discussion going...

Immediately after the Summit, we'll be sharing keynote and panel footage from our sessions, as well as our Influencers' very own 'Big Ideas' videos....and of course, we'll continue to deliver your daily fix of need-to-know news, discussions and help you grow your global network.

Invite your peers

No one likes to turn up to a party alone, so make sure you invite your peers to join the discussions and get involved in the biggest procurement event of the year. Use the 'Build Your Network' feature on Procurious to send invitations to your LinkedIn and email contacts.... invite 10 or more, and you'll be in the running to win an iPad Mini*!
